

CAMDEN NEWS NOTES

On a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, Anthony Penrose and Joseph Gorman, of Philadelphia, were arrested by Policeman Knauff in Camden last night and sent to the city jail for a hearing this morning. According to the police, the prisoners have been swindling South Camden people for several weeks by means of selling pictures for next to nothing and charging exorbitant rates for frames on delivery.

 John Sayrs, 85 years old, homeless, was taken to the almshouse at Blackwood yesterday. Sayrs has been a wanderer for years and has tramped thousands of miles over the country.

 Howard Davis, a negro, who was one of the trio that broke into the saloon of John H. Carroll in December, 1904, was given eighteen months in State Prison by Judge Joline yesterday.

 Policeman Harry Hill was seriously injured yesterday, at Tenth street and Kaighn avenue, by being run over by a team which he attempted to stop.

 William Raisin, of 1704 Van Buren street, after enjoying a smoke at his home yesterday, knocked the hot ashes on the floor. A fire resulted which consumed most of Raisin's household effects.

 Patrick McNally, convicted last week of a charge of abusing Samuel Labron, a boy, was sentenced to twelve years in State Prison by Judge Joline, in the Criminal Court in Camden, yesterday.
